Niger: Contributing to local development through the construction of infrastructure

The mining companies Somaïr, Cominak and Orano Mining have made numerous investments for the construction of infrastructure in urban and rural communes in the regions of Arlit and Iférouane.

Iférouane and Arlit benefit from its partners and the Bilateral Orientation Committee, which brings together, alongside Orano Mining Niger and the subsidiaries COMINAK and SOMAÏR, local elected officials, the administrations concerned and civil society, new infrastructures. Health huts have been built as well as solar pumping stations, which allow children to have more time and therefore go to school.

People also benefit from access to hospitals, or integrated health centres. Complementary actions such as the financing of hydraulic works to improve agricultural yields are also carried out for livestock farmers and farmers.

The deployment of these actions contributes to the development of socio-economic activities and the improvement of the living conditions of local populations.
