

Orano TN names Roger Maggi as Chief Commercial Officer

30-year industry veteran leads through passion for customer service and innovative thinking.

BETHESDA, Md., July 22, 2020 – Amir Vexler, President of Orano TN, a subsidiary of Orano USA, announced today that Roger Maggi has been appointed to the new position of Chief Commercial Officer, Orano TN.

In his new role, Mr. Maggi will be responsible for all commercial and product-strategy aspects of Orano TN in the United States.

Mr. Maggi has served the nuclear industry for more than 30 years delivering dry storage solutions for used nuclear fuel, and inspection and repair solutions for nuclear steam supply systems to the commercial U.S. and European markets, and the U.S. Navy fleet. He honed his customer-focused understanding of clients' priorities and expectations, and the unique requirements of the industry, through increasing roles in customer service and firsthand experience with more than 100 nuclear reactor repair and upgrade outages.

"Roger leads through his passion for customer service and innovative thinking," said Mr. Vexler, "The recent successful launches of our new two-tiered NUHOMS® MATRIX dry fuel storage system and the MP197HB transport cask are two examples of Roger's insights communicating value based on customer requirements and preferences."

Most recently, Mr. Maggi was the vice president of Sales and Marketing for Orano TN in the United States. Prior to Orano TN, he served in Orano's legacy companies as a Key Account Manager and vice president of Business Development for various industry businesses.

About Orano TN: Orano TN operates in the U.S. as TN Americas, which is a subsidiary of Orano USA, with more than 55 years of experience providing nuclear packaging and transportation solutions for its customers worldwide. Globally, Orano TN conducts more than 5,000 transports of used nuclear fuel and radioactive material packages worldwide, while meeting the highest international security requirements.

About Orano USA: Orano USA is a leading supplier of nuclear fuel materials, used fuel management, decommissioning, decontamination, and radwaste treatment solutions to U.S. commercial and federal customers. Orano USA, through its subsidiary Orano Med in Texas, is developing cancer treatments using targeted radio-immunotherapy, with its first drug currently in FDA-authorized clinical trials.
